

CPYRGHT

CPYRGHT

CPYRGHT

FOIAb3b

CPYRGHT

Sketches of Nine Members of the New School Board

The New York Times Studio
Brendan Byrne

The New York Times
James E. Donovan

The New York Times
Lloyd K. Garrison

Fabian Bachrach
John F. Hennessey

The New York Times
Morris Iushewitz

ACTIVE in philanthropic programs . . . 62 years old . . . executive director of American Heritage Foundation for last four years . . . Graduate of Fordham University (magna cum laude), 1930 . . . received M.A. in 1938 . . . Taught economics and history at John Adams High School in Woodhaven, Queens . . . Served as dean of boys and social studies at same school . . . Editor of Facts magazine, Read Digest in 1948 . . . Directed community relations for the 33,000-mile Freedom Train tour sponsored by American Heritage Foundation . . . Vice president of Valley Forge Foundation, 1951-52 . . . Vice president of Goddy & Byrne, Inc., philanthropic consultants, 1954-55 . . . In World War II became lieutenant commander . . . Born in New York, lives at 85-19 118th Street, Kew Gardens, Queens . . . Father of three children.

STOCKY, silver-haired man of 45 . . . Son of prominent Bronx surgeon . . . Showed he did not bow to prejudice in 1957 when he undertook defense of Soviet spy, Col. Rudolf Ivanovich Abel . . . When he appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States, Chief Justice Warren said, "I think I can say that in the name of this court no man has undertaken a more courageous, more self-sacrificing task . . . Was in charge of visual evidence at the Nuremberg trial of Nazi war criminals . . . Entered Navy in 1943 as ensign, rose to rank of full commander . . . Born in the Bronx . . . Educated at All Hallows School, Fordham College, Harvard Law School, where he edited Yearbook . . . Member of law firm, Waters & Donovan . . . Lives at 35 Prospect Park West, Brooklyn, with wife and four children . . . Plays golf in 80's.

PROFOUND legal mind . . . Keen sense of humor . . . A man who knows the problems of an educator from the inside . . . Retired from private law practice in 1932 to become professor and dean of University of Wisconsin Law School . . . There until 1945 . . . Resumed private practice . . . A prominent liberal . . . Member of the New York law firm of Paul, Weiss, Wharton & Garrison, which later took Adlai E. Stevenson as a partner . . . Held many advisory posts with educational and legal institutions . . . Served with the Navy in World War I as an enlisted man . . . Graduated from Harvard Law School in 1922 . . . Born here on Nov. 19, 1897 . . . Married Ellen Jay, a descendant of the first United States Chief Justice, in 1921 . . . Has son and two daughters . . . Lives at 133 East Sixtyfourth Street.

PRODUCT of the New York City school system . . . Strong interest in education for many years . . . Former trustee of Iona College . . . Now president of Board of Managers of Lincoln Hall, Roman Catholic school for delinquent boys . . . Holds honorary degrees from Iona and Mankattan College . . . Has two sons . . . John F. Jr. works with his father in the consulting engineering firm of Syska & Hennessey, 144 East Thirty-ninth Street . . . Son Paul is a brother in order of Irish Christian Brothers, now studying in Rome for doctorate in theology . . . Born New York City June 14, 1902 . . . Graduate from All Hallows . . . Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1924 . . . Married in 1927 to Dorothy O'Grady of New York . . . Lives at 77 Park Avenue . . . Is helping design mechanical and electrical systems for Lincoln Center.

CALLED "complete modern labor leader" . . . College-cultivated unionist . . . Graduate of University of Wisconsin . . . Worked as reported for Labor Press and Jewish Telegraph Agency . . . Did publicity for organized musicians . . . Got start in labor movement directly as executive board member of Newspaper Guild of New York . . . Short, stocky, determined . . . Secretary of the City Central Labor Council previously served as secretary-treasurer of Greater New York C. I. O. Council . . . Member of board of trustees of State University of New York, vice chairman of board of Health Insurance Plan, member of City Youth Board . . . Has served as member and executive of many civic committees and organizations, including Urban League, a special committee to survey city departments and agencies, Police Athletic League.

The New York Times
Samuel R. Pierce

The New York Times
Anna M. Rosenberg

Conway Studios
Max J. Rubin

The New York Times Studio
Clarence O. Senior

BORN thirty-nine years ago in Glen Cove, L. I. . . Has served as a General Sessions Judge, assistant District Attorney in New York County and assistant United States Attorney for the Southern District . . . Member of law firm Battle, Fowler, Stokes & Kheel . . . A Republican . . . One of the first Negroes to achieve a partnership in a prominent law firm . . . Won Phi Beta Kappa key at Cornell, where he played half-back . . . Graduated from Cornell Law School in 1949 . . . During World War II served three years in North Africa and Italy . . . Was the only Negro member of Army's Criminal Investigation Division in the Mediterranean Theater . . . Married Dr. Barbara Penn Wright, a physician . . . Father of a daughter, 11 . . . A solid six-footer who keeps warm by swimming twice a week . . . Lives at 2225 Fifth Avenue.

SINCE New Deal one of the most active and influential women in public affairs . . . Friend of Presidents, industrialists, labor leaders, generals and politicians . . . Most widely known as Assistant Secretary of Defense under George C. Marshall but also served on National Recovery Administration, Social Security Board, Office of Defense, War Manpower Commission Member of transit boards appointed by Mayors La Guardia and O'Dwyer . . . Chairman in 1959 of Wagner's transit mediation committee that produced formula to avert subway and bus strike . . . Small (five feet 3 inches), hardworking, dynamic . . . Voluble speech still carries trace of her native Budapest . . . Born there in 1902, came here at 16, married at 18, moved to New York City in 1920 . . . Lives in modern apartment on Fifth Avenue.

PRODUCT of New York City school system . . . Born in Manhattan fifty-five years ago . . . Attended grammar school in Brooklyn and Bronx . . . Graduated from Morris High School . . . City College and New York University Law School, graduating in 1927 . . . Senior member of the law firm of Rubin, Baum & Levin . . . Involvement in school administration began at parent-teachers meeting in Great Neck, L. I., in 1946 . . . Became president of the Great Neck Board of Education in 1951 . . . Wrote report for 1955 White House Conference on Education . . . Served as chairman of State Citizens Committee for Public Schools . . . Involved in the city's school system in 1959 when appointed to committee to investigate Gerosa charges of state and city school system . . . Education had urged major overhaul . . . Married to former Belle Hirsch . . . two sons.

AUTHORITY on Puerto Rican affairs on the island and in New York . . . Educator, sociologist and economist . . . Served as director of Migration Division of Department of Labor of Commonwealth of Puerto Rico from 1951 to 1960 . . . Now consultant to the division . . . Member of sociology department at Columbia University and professor of sociology at Brooklyn College . . . Earned Ph. D. at Columbia 1955 . . . Last two years as consultant to Ford Foundation on problems of metropolis . . . Currently studying migration and urbanization for the American Society of Planning Officials . . . Born June 9, 1903, in Clinton, Mo. . . Book "Land Reform and Democracy" about Mexico, published in 1958 by University of Chicago Press.

SENATE CONTINUES DEBATE ON CLOSURE

Special to The New York Times.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 18—
Congress created wearily through another uneventful sitting today.

Although it is eager to adjourn for the year, this Congress is not so much driving for adjournment as it is running down.

After eulogies upon the death of Dag Hammarskjöld, Secretary General of the United Nations, the Senate submitted to a series of long speeches about the wisdom of changing its closure rule.

The issue is whether to reduce the size of the majority required to break a filibuster from two-thirds of those present and voting to three-fifths. A vote on shutting off debate in the change is scheduled one hour after the Senate convenes tomorrow. A two-thirds majority will be necessary to carry the motion and bring the rule change to a vote. Few members expect that such a majority can be mustered.

Meanwhile, attempts to dispose of the session's last major bill, the foreign aid appropriation, were delayed so that key members would be able to attend the funeral in Louisiana Wednesday for Representative Overton Brooks, who died Saturday.

Conferees assigned to eliminate differences in House and Senate versions of the bill will not meet until Thursday. This could conceivably push Congress' hopes for a adjournment by Saturday.

Alice on a Penny
One of the first pennies minted by the American Government in the eighteenth century bore the inscription: "Mind Your Business."

CPYRGHT